Abstract :

Applied Biosystems is excited to offer an online learning session to demonstrate how the new HID Real-Time PCR Analysis Software provides a streamlined HID specific quantitation workflow, enhanced data review functionality, and the ability to improve STR analysis efficiency.

Features :

To take full advantage of the data and capabilities offered by the Quantifiler® kits, especially the Quantifiler® Duo Kit, forensic DNA analysts require software designed specifically for the human identification application.

The HID Real-Time PCR Analysis Software v1.0 has been developed to complete the Applied Biosystems integrated HID solution for DNA quantification, which includes the 7500 Real-Time PCR System and the Quantifiler® kits. By automatically assessing DNA samples quality and quantity, the HID Real-Time PCR Analysis Software helps guide processing decisions and facilitates selection of the appropriate AmpFISTR® kits and DNA input amount for optimal results.
